Authors Christina Tree and Diane Foulds describe the area around Montgomery Center as "big sky farm and logging country with isolated mountains and unexpectedly high passes. It has a haunting quality." For river enthusiasts, the Missisquoi River offers a peaceful paddle as it threads through rolling hills and pastoral farmland northwest of Montgomery Center. Off the river, the Hazen's Notch Association network of hiking trails traverses area woods and meadows, rewarding hikers with stunning views of Jay Peak. Montgomery Center, with its great dining and lodging options and friendly outfitters and guides, serves as a great base camp. All this is included in the following package. For more descriptive information on this package getaway see the visitor itinerary Montgomery Marvels.
