

Northern Forest Canoe Trail Connecticut River Valley Wildlife Watch A Self-Guided One-Day Itinerary

Trip Summary

Maps and Guidebooks

- NFCT Map 7: Great North Woods
- NFCT Guidebook
- Connecticut River Joint Commission Maps
- AMC River Guide (NH and VT)
- Google Maps directions

Activities

- Paddling and wildlife viewing on the Connecticut River

Places to Stay

- Connolly Cabins
- The Blueberry Hill Inn- Cafe and Campground
- Trailside Lodge

Where to Eat

- Blueberry Inn Cafe
- Le Rendezvous Bakery
- Moose Muck Coffee House
- Mostly Muffins
- North Country Family Restaurant
- Stone's Pizza

Outfitters and Guides

- Ducret's Sporting Goods
- Kingdom Guide Service
- L.L. Cote
- Osprey Fishing Adventures
- Outdoor ESCAPES New Hampshire

Local Events

- NFCT Events Calendar

Check Out NFCT's Vacation Packages!

~Last Updated-June, 2014~

The section of the Northern Forest Canoe Trail spanning between Stratford and Groveton, NH threads its way past rolling hills and farmland and was chosen as a 2014 Best Outdoor Attraction by Yankee Magazine! The lazy current of the Connecticut River allows for a peaceful paddle through osprey, Canada goose and bank sparrow nesting grounds. The nearby Nulhegan Basin Division of the Silvio O. Conte National Fish and Wildlife Refuge provides protected habitat for these animals. This itinerary describes a full day paddling trip (11 miles) highlighting some of the best lodging, dining, shopping and recreating in the area.

Day 1: Connecticut River Paddle

Wake up in your comfortable room at the Blueberry Hill Inn - Cafe and Campground, an Early Colonial farmhouse surrounded by 55-acres of wild blueberry fields and woods in Stratford, NH. Downstairs, you can treat yourself to one of the Café's specialty omelets or a muffin with blueberries picked on the property. The Trailside Lodge and Connolly Cabins are also terrific options for lodging in the area.

Ducret's Sporting Goods is located north in Colebrook and offers a good variety of boating, fishing and camping supplies. Consider picking up a copy of the CT River Watershed Council's Connecticut River Boating Guide or the AMC's River Guide for Vermont and New Hampshire. You can also go online to view the Connecticut River Joint Commission's maps and to see flowage levels which are greatly affected by rain fall and dam releases.

If you do venture up to Colebrook, stop in at Le Rendez-Vous Bakery, a Yankee Editor's pick, for delicious fresh bread and French pastries. Mostly Muffins has a sumptuous array of muffins and Moose Muck Coffee House offers a great menu including sandwiches for a picnic. You also might enjoy browsing through Creative Natives, Fiddleheads and the Colebrook Farmers' Market (Saturdays 9-11AM) for crafts, gifts and clothing made by local, regional and national artisans.

Watch a video of NFCT's Kate Williams paddling on the CT River!

Credit: NH Fish and Game

While you prepare for your paddling adventure, consider hiring a guide from Kingdom Guide Service or Outdoor ESCAPES New Hampshire to assist you with logistical preparations and shuttle services. Along the river, guides also reveal the subtleties of the river's natural ecosystems and tell stories of both the Native and non-Native people who have inhabited the landscape through history. For those interested in fishing, Osprey Fishing Adventures offers drift boat tours, fishing equipment and expert advice on the Upper Connecticut's renowned wild brook trout and landlocked salmon populations.

When you are ready to begin your paddle, consult your NFCT Map 7 to find the NFCT kiosk at "Debanville's Landing" in Bloomfield, Vermont.

Your map and the NFCT Guidebook will highlight significant natural and cultural sites along your journey such as Brunswick Springs, a sacred place long considered by the Abenaki to have healing powers. In the late 1800's and early 1900's, several hotels were built on this site. Legend suggests that the hotels of Brunswick Springs, all of which burned down, were cursed because they attempted to profit from the sacred waters.

Along the Connecticut River, you will pass stretches of working farmland. Although it may not strike you as prime wildlife habitat, black bear can be observed feeding in the ripened corn fields. Many different species of birds including bald eagles, Canada geese and osprey are also active along this river corridor in the summer months. And keep your eyes peeled for riverbanks riddled with holes; evidence of nesting bank swallows. Please practice Leave No Trace techniques and give all wildlife plenty of room as you pass.

If you would like to return to the Blueberry Hill Inn - Cafe and Campground for the night, you can arrange to be picked up 11 miles into your journey at the Maidstone Bridge. If you would prefer to camp on the river, pull off on the Vermont shore at the granite pier (an old railroad trestle) and stay at NFCT's Maine Central Railroad Trestle Campsite.

For dinner, head south to Groveton's North Country Family Restaurant; a local's favorite for a hearty meal.

This route can easily be turned into a two-day adventure by carrying on downstream, past the Fort Hill Wildlife Management Area and taking out in Guildhall, Vermont. (Note: The take-out is just upstream of the breached Wyoming Dam, a hazard to paddlers, and the RT 102 bridge.)

You might also extend your visit by planning your trip around one of the local summer events and by including a visit to the Silvio O. Conte National Fish and Wildlife Refuge headquarters. The headquarters are in a beautiful location and offer interpretive information about the natural and cultural history of the region.

The Northern Forest Canoe Trail • P.O. Box 565, Waitsfield, VT 05673 • 802-496-2285 • <http://www.northernforestcanoetrail.org/>

Follow Us on Facebook

Join us on Twitter

Read Our Blog

This publication is the result of tax-supported funding from USDA, Rural Development, and as such is not copyrightable.

It may be reprinted with the customary crediting of the source.