

NFCT Map 8

Edition 1 Trail Updates

---

Map 8 was released in 2005. The map was reprinted in 2012, at which time updates were made to the map. If you are using the earlier edition for navigation you will want to make note of the changes for each edition. Below you will find the Trail Updates that were noted for the first edition of Map 8 between 2005 and 2012:

First Edition (First Printing Map Updates 2005-2012)

- Lower Dam was removed from the Rapid River, but it is still necessary to portage. The portage route remains the same. Picnic table and small informational kiosk installed by Rangeley Lakes Heritage Trust at the Lower Dam landing.
- Teepee Campground is no longer operational (on Magalloway River just upstream from Umbagog Lake). Campground property purchased by U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service.
- Route Description Marker #13 describes being able to see the peak of Mt. Washington from Black Point on Mooselookmeguntic Lake. A knowledgeable paddler has informed us that it is actually near the site of Black Point Campsite on the eastern shores of Upper Richardson Lake that you can have such a view on a clear day when looking to the southwest. Black Point Campsite is located near Route Description Marker #15.
