First Edition (2005) Updates

- Lower Dam was removed from the Rapid River, but it is still necessary to portage. The portage route remains the same. Picnic table and small informational kiosk installed by Rangeley Lakes Heritage Trust at the Lower Dam landing.
- Teepee Campground is no longer operational (on Magalloway River just upstream from Umbagog Lake). Campground property purchased by U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service.

Second Edition (2012) Updates

- If you would like to reduce the amount of portaging required to get around the Rapid River, you can enter Pond in the River, removing about a mile of portage. For more details access this Info Sheet.
- Our friends at the Maine Forestry Museum (formerly the Rangeley Lakes Regional Logging Museum) have allowed the NFCT to build a lean-to on their property. NFCT paddlers are also allowed to camp by their shelter. A portage we installed on their property has also reduced the Rangeley to South Branch of the Dead portage by a mile. For more details about camping opportunities and the Gull Pond Stream Portage access this Info Sheet.
- The location of the Errol Dam and Steamer Diamond Boat Launch has been corrected. The Dam is farther to the north and the Steamer Diamond Boat Launch farther to the south.
- Mileages have been corrected in the new edition
- Several new conserved lands have been added
- The location of the Long Pond (Beaver Mtn Lake) access is actually on the northeast corner of the lake
